

HEAVY METALS TEST

Dear Client,

Welcome and thank you for choosing the Plasma Saal Health Centre. At Plasma Saal we combine cutting edge technologies in the field of quantum medicine with a holistic approach to human health. We are happy to offer you the Quantum Hair Sample Analysis (QHSA) – a non-invasive, detailed and quick health assessment and analysis.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Our bodies provide us with information about our emotional, mental and physical states. In the same way that the iris of an eye or a fingerprint contain unique information about each of us, hair also carries various types of unique health information. With just a small lock of hair we can assess vital information about your current health state, and assist you in a healing process.

Did you know that hair grows approximately 1 cm per month, and stays on a head 2-6 years before it falls out! So, a single hair sample gathers and stores all types of information about us. For example, a hair shaft (Fig. 1) absorbs and accumulates chemicals, and any toxins that our body is exposed to (e.g. food, water, air, environment).

Each of us is a unique individual, responding differently to similar environments and foods, and there is no “one-size-fits-all” formula. Therefore, the hair samples are unique bioindicators. They can, for example, reveal any mineral deficiencies, presence of heavy metals and other toxic elements, as well as food intolerance and/or nutrients overloads. Furthermore, the hair sample analysis can determine which supplements would be the best to support your health, for example homeopathic and Bach flower remedies, or types of essential oils (e.g. Young Living, doTerra).

INNOVATIVE TECHNOLOGY OF THE FUTURE

Quantum Hair Sample Analysis is based on the Quantum Response Technology, and provides both biofeedback and bioresonance analysis.

Quantum Response device applies scalar waves produced by Tesla coils to scan your hair sample and capture your unique energetic imprint. This imprint is stored and used to get a wide variety of information about your physical health, energetic, emotional and mental states.

TEST for HEAVY METALS

This type of QHSA test detects values of heavy metals in your body. There are various ways for heavy metals to bioaccumulate in your body: environmental pollution, food (e.g. pesticides, fungicides), water, drugs. Cumulative impacts from heavy metals vary on individual basis, and this test specifically identifies potentially harmful values for each body.

Values for heavy metals are represented by numerical values ‘LOW’, MEDIUM or ‘HIGH’ and related colors (green, yellow and red), which shows potentially harmful effects for each individual person.

Color Codes:

Green = 0% to 50% (low values)

Yellow = 50% to 80% (medium values)

Red = 80% to 100% (high values)

The Plasma Saal's QHSA test for heavy metals will provide you with any identified values, specifically tailor made for you. In addition, and based on these results, our experts can also provide you with specific detox protocol to support your healing process.
